

VILLA KÉRYLOS

Antiquity as imagined by a humanist.

A sumptuous villa, inspired by ancient Greece and commissioned by Theodore Reinach in 1902 during the Belle Époque. A scholarly man of letters, as well as an archaeologist, academician and member of parliament, Theodore Reinach chose to live and receive his guests in this faithful reconstruction of a wealthy second century BC residence, integrating yet concealing all the modern comforts of his time. A balcony over the Mediterranean Sea, the villa is located between Nice and Monaco in the Baie des Fourmis (Bay of Ants) in Beaulieu-sur-Mer. Surrounded by a charming coastal garden, its extraordinary décor, fully furnished and adorned with fabrics, frescoes, painted ceilings and mosaics, is quite unique, enabling the visitor to discover and appreciate the art of living and the refinement of Greek civilisation and ancient Mediterranean worlds.
